Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy

Safeguarding is of paramount importance at the German Saturday School Ealing and forms one of our core duties as a school. As such, the school has a number of policies and procedures which outline the arrangements for the ongoing provision for the safety of the children in its care. These include our commitment to Health & Safety, Safer recruitment and Child Protection.

Policy Statement

German Saturday School Ealing believe that children have the right to be treated equally and to learn in a safe and friendly environment. The welfare of each child is paramount. All staff, teachers, helpers, volunteers and parents have a responsibility to report concerns to the nominated safeguarding person, the head or director of the German Saturday School Ealing or the police.

We aim to safeguard children by:

- adopting child protection guidelines (Yellow Book, Ealing) through procedures and a code of conduct for staff/volunteers
- sharing information about child protection and good practice with children/young people, parents and carers and staff/volunteers
- sharing information about concerns with agencies who need to know, and involving parents and children/young people appropriately
- following carefully the procedures for recruitment and selection of staff/volunteers
- providing effective management for staff/volunteers through support, supervision and training
- reviewing our policy and good practice regularly.

The nominated child protection person

Our nominated safeguarding person is Anette Bennett, Tel. 07719992880.

In her absence, the deputy nominated safeguarding person is Eva Sturt, Tel. 07779131940.

The nominated safeguarding person's role and responsibilities include:

- ensuring that this policy is implemented throughout the school
- ensuring that all necessary enquiries, procedures and investigations relating to child protection are carried out
- ensuring that all confidential records relating to child protection matters are kept secure
- liaising with social services at a formal and informal level on child protection matters, also with the police
- reporting allegations and suspicion of abuse to the appropriate authorities
- ensuring that there is adequate induction and training relating to child protection matters

German Saturday School Ealing

- ensuring that each activity carried out by the school is sound in terms of child protection as regards personnel, practices and premises
- checking all incident reports made by staff/volunteers, countersigning them and making such reference to the appropriate authority as is appropriate.

Good practice:

We ensure all teaching staff, helpers, volunteers and parents are made aware of our safeguarding policy and procedures.

Candidates are informed of the need to carry out 'enhanced disclosure' checks with the Criminal Records Bureau before posts can be confirmed.

Where applications are rejected because of information that has been disclosed, applicants have the right to know and to challenge incorrect information.

Volunteers and helpers do not work unsupervised.

Each parent must fill out a registration and consent form for each child attending the school.

No photographs, film or other images of the children are taken without parental consent. The parental consent form is part of the registration form.

Each teacher must be provided with a register and an up-to-date contact list with emergency telephone numbers of each child in their group.

Management staff must have a full and up-to-date contact list of all children's parents' and/or guardians in case of an emergency.

A register of all staff, helpers and volunteers and adults must be kept by the management.

Accidents/incidents must be recorded on the accident form and the Head/Director has to be informed accordingly.

Where possible staff/volunteers/helpers should not be alone with a child, although there may be times when this may be necessary or helpful for a brief moment.

The school recognises that physical touch between adults and children can be acceptable in public places. However, staff, volunteers will be discouraged from this in circumstances where an adult and a child are alone together.

All team members should treat all children with dignity and respect in their attitude, language and actions.

Electronic devices (the school's own i-pads) with access to the internet are only used under supervision of the class teacher. The use of mobile phones are not allowed by pupils during the lesson time or during break time. Any adults must not make any inappropriate use including recordings or photography whilst they are working with or supervising children. The exception is management who has to have a phone available at all times in case of emergencies.

Security and Responding to late collection

German Saturday School Ealing

Children will only be released into the care of parents or other relatives of the child known to them. Children will not be permitted to leave the premises unsupervised. Any visitors will have to report to a teacher or management to gain access into the building.

If a child has not been collected (under the age of 11) at the end of the session, staff has an obligation to keep the child under constant supervision and inform management of the school either until parent arrives and/or contact the parent/carer immediately to investigate reason for lateness. Only children aged 11 years and above can leave their classrooms at the end of the session independently without parent collecting from the door provided a permission form has been signed by their parent/carer.

Safe Recruitment of teachers and helpers

German Saturday School Ealing will take all reasonable steps to ensure unsuitable people are prevented from working with children. Our recruitment process will therefore include the following:

- The applicant will be interviewed by the Head and one further member of the German Saturday School Ealing, and will be asked for a teaching sample.
- Teachers will be required to obtain an enhanced DBS check as soon as possible. The German Saturday School Ealing accepts enhanced DBS checks from other organisations.
- All teachers, helpers and volunteers are required to follow all German Saturday School Ealing policies which are given to them on their appointment.

Safeguarding pupils who are vulnerable to extremism

If any staff member suspects that a child is being exposed to radicalisation and/or groomed to join a group that promotes violence that concern should be reported to the designated child protection person as a safeguarding concern.

Since 2010, when the Government published the Prevent Strategy, there has been an awareness of the specific need to safeguard children, young people and families from violent extremism and gang violence. There have been several occasions both locally and nationally in which extremist groups have attempted to radicalise vulnerable children and young people to hold extreme views including views justifying political, religious, sexist, racist and other violence, or to steer them into a rigid and narrow ideology that is intolerant of diversity and leaves them vulnerable to future radicalisation.

We at German Saturday School Ealing value freedom of speech and the expression of beliefs/ideology as fundamental rights underpinning our society's values. Both pupils and teachers have the right to speak freely and voice their opinions. However, freedom comes with responsibility and free speech that is designed to manipulate the vulnerable or that leads to violence and harm of others goes against the moral principles in which freedom of speech is valued. Free speech is not an unqualified privilege; it is subject to laws and policies governing equality, human rights, community safety and community cohesion.

The current threat from terrorism in the United Kingdom may include the exploitation of vulnerable people, to involve them in terrorism or in activity in support of terrorism. The normalisation of extreme views may also make children and young people vulnerable to future manipulation and exploitation. We at German Saturday School Ealing are clear that this exploitation and radicalisation should be viewed as a safeguarding concern.

Allegations of physical injury or neglect

If a child/young person has a symptom of physical injury or neglect, the nominated person will:

- contact social services for advice in cases of deliberate injury or concerns about the safety of the child/young person, but they must not inform the parents/carers
- seek emergency medical attention immediately where necessary. The designated person will inform the doctor of any suspicions of abuse.
- in other circumstances, speak with the parent/carer and suggest that medical help/attention is sought for the child/young person
- if appropriate, encourage the parent/carer to seek help from social services
- if the parent/carer fails to act, seek advice from the Local Safeguarding Children Board
- in the case of real concern, contact social services for advice.

Allegations of sexual abuse

In the event of allegations or suspicions of sexual abuse, the designated person will:

- contact the social services duty social worker for children and families directly, but must not speak to the parent or to anyone else
- seek advice from the Local Safeguarding Children Board
- collect and clarify the precise details of the allegation or suspicion and provide this information to social services, but should not attempt to carry out any investigation into the allegation or suspicion of sexual abuse
- while allegations or suspicions of sexual abuse should normally be reported to the designated child protection person, their absence should not delay referral to social services.

Responding to a child making an allegation of abuse

- It is important not to make promises that you may not be able to keep. Do not say that you will keep confidential what a child/young person is about to tell you, as you may have a duty to share it with others.
- Find an appropriate early opportunity to explain that it is likely that the information will need to be shared with others.
- Stay calm and listen carefully to what the child/young person is saying.
- Allow the child/young person to continue at their own pace.
- Ask questions for clarification only and at all times avoid asking questions that suggest a particular answer.
- Reassure the child/young person that they have done the right thing in telling you.
- Tell them what you will do next and with whom the information will be shared.
- As soon as possible, record in writing what was said, using the child's/young person's own words.
- Make a note of the date, time, any names mentioned and to whom the information was given, and ensure that the record is signed and dated.

Helpful statements to make

- 'I believe you (showing acceptance of what the child/young person says).'

German Saturday School Ealing

- 'Thank you for telling me.'
- 'It's not your fault.'
- 'I will help you.'

Do not say:

- 'Why didn't you tell anyone before?'
- 'I can't believe it!'
- 'Are you sure that this is true?'
- 'Why? Who? When? Where?'

Never make promises you can't keep.

Responding to allegations against a member of staff/volunteer

The school will fully support and protect anyone who, in good faith, reports their concern that a colleague is, or may be, abusing a child/young person. Where there is a complaint against a member of staff/volunteer, there may be three types of investigation: criminal investigation, child protection investigation or disciplinary/misconduct investigation. The results of the police and child protection investigation may well influence the disciplinary investigation, but this will not necessarily be the case.

Concerns about poor practice:

- If, following consideration, the allegation is clearly about poor practice; this will be dealt with as a misconduct issue.
- If the allegation is about poor practice by the supplementary school Designated Person or if the matter has been handled inadequately and concerns remain, it should be reported to the Supplementary School Co-ordinator who will advise how to deal with the allegation and whether or not the school should initiate disciplinary proceedings.

Concerns about suspected abuse

- Any suspicion that a child has been abused by either a member of staff or a volunteer should be reported to the supplementary school Designated Person, who will take such steps as considered necessary to ensure the safety of the child in question and any other child who may be at risk.
- The designated person will refer the allegation (no later than within one working day) to the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) who may involve the police. If out-of-hours the designated person will go directly to the police.
- The parents or carers of the child will be contacted as soon as possible following advice from the social services department.
- If the designated person is the subject of the suspicion/allegation, the report must be made to the appropriate Manager or in his/her absence to the supplementary school Co-ordinator who will refer the allegation to the LADO.

Internal enquiries and suspension

- The nominated safeguarding person will make an immediate decision about whether any individual accused of abuse should be temporarily suspended pending further police and social services inquiries.
- Irrespective of the findings of the social services or police inquiries the German Saturday School Ealing will assess all individual cases to decide whether a member of staff or volunteer can be reinstated and how this can be sensitively handled. This may be a difficult decision; particularly where there is insufficient evidence to uphold any action by the police. In such cases, the school must reach a decision based upon the available information which could suggest that on a balance of probability, it is more likely than not that the allegation is true. The welfare of the child should remain of paramount importance throughout.

Support for dealing with the aftermath of abuse

Consideration should be given to the kind of support that children/young people, parents/carers and members of staff/volunteers may need. Use of helplines, support groups and open meetings will maintain an open culture and help the healing process. The Directory of the British Association for Counselling & Psychotherapy is available from the British Association for Counselling & Psychotherapy, BACP House, 15 St John's Business Park, Lutterworth, Leicestershire LE17 4HB, tel.: 01455 883 300, fax: bacp@bacp.co.uk, <http://www.bacp.co.uk/>

Definitions of abuse

These definitions are based on those from Working together to safeguard children (Department of Health, Home Office, Department for Education and Employment, 1999).

Physical abuse

- Physical abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise causing harm to a child/young person.
- Physical harm may also be caused when a parent/carer feigns the symptoms of, or deliberately causes, ill health to a child/young person whom they are looking after. This situation is commonly described as factitious, fabricated or induced illness in children/young people or “Munchausen syndrome by proxy”.
- A person might do this because they enjoy or need the attention they get through having a sick child/young person.
- Physical abuse, as well as being the result of a deliberate act, can also be caused through omission or the failure to act to protect.

Emotional abuse

- Emotional abuse is the persistent emotional ill treatment of a child/young person, such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child’s/young person’s emotional development. It may involve making a child/young person feel or believe that they are worthless, unloved, inadequate or valued only insofar as they meet the needs of the other person.
- It may feature expectations being imposed on a child/young person that are inappropriate for their age or stage of development. It may also involve causing a child/young person to feel frequently frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of a child/young person.
- Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of ill treatment of a child/young person, though it may occur alone.

Sexual abuse

- Sexual abuse involves forcing or enticing a child/young person to take part in sexual activities, whether or not the child/young person is aware of, or consents to, what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including penetrative acts such as rape, buggery or oral sex, or non-penetrative acts such as fondling.
- Sexual abuse may also include non-contact activities, such as involving children/young people in looking at, or in the production of, pornographic material, or watching sexual activities, or encouraging children/young people to behave in sexually inappropriate ways.
- Boys and girls can be sexually abused by both males and females, whether adults or other children/young people.

Neglect

- Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child’s/young person’s basic physical and/or psychological needs, that is likely to result in the serious impairment of the child’s/young person’s health or development. It may involve a parent or a carer failing to provide adequate food, shelter or clothing, leaving a child/young person at home alone or failing to ensure that a child/young person gets appropriate medical care or treatment. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child’s/young person’s basic emotional needs.

- It is accepted that, in all forms of abuse, there are elements of emotional abuse and that some children/young people are subjected to more than one form of abuse at any time.

Bullying

- Bullying may be defined as deliberately hurtful behaviour, usually repeated over a period of time, where it is difficult for those bullied to defend themselves. It can take many forms, but the three main types are physical (eg. Hitting, kicking, theft), verbal (eg. Racists, homophobic remarks, threats, name calling) and emotional (eg. Isolating an individual from the activities and social acceptance of their peer group).
- The damage inflicted by bullying can frequently be underestimated. It can cause considerable distress to children to the extent that it affects their health and development or, at the extreme, cause them significant harm (including self-harm). All settings in which children are provided with services or are living away from home should have in place rigorously enforced anti-bullying strategies.

These five definitions do not minimise other forms of maltreatment.

Note

Recent guidance identifies other sources of stress for children/young people and families, such as social exclusion, domestic violence, the mental illness of a parent/carer or drug and alcohol misuse. These may have a negative impact on a child/young person's health and development and may be noticed by an organisation caring for a child/young person. If it is felt that a child/young person's well-being is adversely affected by any of these situations, the same procedures should be followed.

Recognising and responding to abuse

The following signs may or may not be indicators that abuse has taken place but the possibility should be considered.

Physical signs of abuse

Physical signs of abuse may include:

- any injuries not consistent with the explanation given for them
- injuries which occur to the body in places which are not normally exposed to falls or games
- unexplained bruising, marks or injuries on any part of the body
- bruises which reflect hand marks or fingertips (from slapping or pinching)
- cigarette burns
- bite marks
- broken bones
- scalds
- injuries which have not received medical attention
- neglect, undernourishment, failure to grow, constant hunger, stealing or gorging food, untreated illnesses, inadequate care
- repeated urinary infections or unexplained stomach pains.

Changes in behaviour which can also indicate physical abuse may include:

- fear of parents/carers being approached for an explanation
- aggressive behaviour or severe temper outbursts
- flinching when approached or touched

- reluctance to get changed in front of others – for example, wearing long sleeves in hot weather
- depression
- withdrawn behaviour
- running away from home.

Emotional signs of abuse

Emotional signs of emotional abuse may include:

- a failure to thrive or grow, particularly if a child/young person puts on weight in other circumstances – for example, in hospital or away from their parents/carers
- sudden speech disorders
- persistent tiredness
- development delay, in terms of either physical or emotional progress.

Changes in behaviour which can also indicate emotional abuse include:

- obsessions or phobias
- sudden underachievement or lack of concentration
- inappropriate relationships with other children and/or adults
- being unable to play
- attention-seeking behaviour
- fear of making mistakes
- self-harm
- fear of the parent/carer being approached regarding their behaviour.

Sexual abuse

Physical signs of sexual abuse may include:

- pain or itching in the genital/anal area
- bruising or bleeding near genital/anal areas
- sexually transmitted disease
- vaginal discharge or infection
- stomach pains
- discomfort when walking or sitting down
- pregnancy.

Changes in behaviour which can also indicate sexual abuse include:

- sudden or unexplained changes in behaviour, such as becoming withdrawn or aggressive
- fear of being left with a specific person or group of people
- having nightmares
- running away from home
- sexual knowledge which is beyond the child's/young person's age or developmental level
- sexual drawings or language
- bed-wetting
- eating problems such as overeating or anorexia

- self-harm or mutilation, sometimes leading to suicide attempts
- a child/young person saying they have secrets that they cannot tell anyone about
- substance or drug abuse
- suddenly having unexplained sources of money
- not being allowed to have friends (particularly during adolescence)
- acting in a sexually explicit way with adults.

Neglect

Physical signs of neglect may include:

- constant hunger, sometimes stealing food from other children/young people
- being constantly dirty or smelly
- loss of weight or being constantly underweight
- inappropriate dress for the conditions.

Changes in behaviour which can also indicate neglect include:

- complaining of being tired all the time
- not requesting medical assistance and/or failing to attend appointments
- having few friends
- mentioning being left alone or unsupervised.

Bullying

Bullying is not always easy to recognise as it can take a number of forms. A child may encounter bullying attacks that are:

- physical: pushing, kicking, hitting, pinching and other forms of violence or threats;
- verbal: name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours and or photos via social media, persistent teasing;
- emotional: excluding (sending to Coventry), tormenting, ridiculing, humiliating.

Physical signs that a child is being bullied may include:

- Coming home or arriving at school with cuts and bruises
- Torn clothes
- Asking for stolen possessions to be replaced
- Losing dinner/tuck money

Changes in behaviour which can also indicate bullying include:

- Falling out with previously good friends
- Being moody and bad tempered
- Wanting to avoid leaving their home
- Aggression with younger siblings
- Doing less well at school
- Anxiety

Appendix 2

Good practice guidelines

All personnel should be encouraged to demonstrate exemplary behaviour in order to protect themselves from false allegations. The following are common sense examples of how to create a positive culture and climate.

Good practice means:

- always working in an open environment (for example, avoiding private or unobserved situations and encouraging open communication with no secrets)
- treating all children/young people equally, and with respect and dignity
- always putting the welfare of each child/young person first
- maintaining a safe and appropriate distance with children/young people (for example, it is not appropriate for staff/volunteers to have an intimate relationship with a child/young person or to share a room with them)
- building balanced relationships based on mutual trust, empowering children/young people to share in the decision-making process
- making school activities and other off-site activities, fun, enjoyable and safe
- keeping up to date with technical skills, qualifications and insurance
- involving parents/carers wherever possible – for example, by encouraging them to take responsibility for children/young people at pickup and drop-off
- being an excellent role model, including not smoking or drinking alcohol in the company of children/young people
- giving enthusiastic and constructive feedback rather than negative criticism
- recognising the developmental needs and capacity of children/young people and not pushing them against their will
- securing written consent from parents/carers for staff to act in loco parentis, if the need arises to administer emergency first aid and/or other medical treatment
- keeping a written record of any injury that occurs, along with the details of any treatment given
- requesting written consent from parents/carers, if it is necessary for staff/volunteers to transport children/young people in their cars in a medical emergency.

Practices to be avoided

The following should be avoided except in emergencies. If cases arise where these situations are unavoidable, it should be with the full knowledge and consent of the person in charge in the club or of the child/young person's parents – for example, if a child/young person sustains an injury and needs to go to hospital, or if a parent/carer fails to arrive to pick up a child/young person at the end of a session.

- Avoid spending excessive amounts of time alone with children/young people away from others.
- Avoid being in a situation where you are alone with a child, e.g. taking a child/young person to an event, or dropping them off in your car.

Practices never to be sanctioned

The following should never be sanctioned. You should never:

- engage in rough, physical or sexually provocative games, including horseplay
- use corporal/physical punishment to manage behaviour

German Saturday School Ealing

- share a room with a child/young person
- allow or engage in any form of inappropriate touching
- allow children/young people to use inappropriate language unchallenged
- make sexually suggestive comments to a child/young person, even in fun
- reduce a child/young person to tears as a form of control
- allow allegations made by a child/young person to go unchallenged, unrecorded or not acted upon
- do things of a personal nature for children/young people or disabled adults that they are able to do for themselves
- invite or allow children/young people to stay with you at your home unsupervised.
